The Open Science Support Centre was established on 1 January 2020 as a new department of the Central Library of Charles University.

Aims

- Fulfilling tasks related to the project Strategic development of science and research capacities and strengthening of the international competitiveness of Charles University and the Action Plan for the Implementation of the Czech Republic National Strategy of Open Access to Scientific Information for 2017-2020
- Providing central methodological support in the field of open access and research data management at Charles University
- Coordinating and supporting a network of faculty open access coordinators at Charles University
- In cooperation with the Computer Science Centre, ensuring the operation and development of the Charles University Digital Repository
- In cooperation with other departments of Charles University, defining and developing strategic goals of open science at Charles University