
Open CU

Charles University signed the Berlin Declaration on Open Access to Knowledge in the Sciences and Humanities in October 2013, publicly committing to supporting the idea of open access. This page offers an overview of the current state of open access at Charles University, the University policy and it introduces the University's open science champions – researchers who commonly practise open science in their research.